We can do either option as long as we move completely away from the current solution. The costs will have to come from the centre. You will have to do a bid for additional funds given then legal outcome of this one. We have a legal obligation to store our records electronically so I guess this will be a no brainer.

Is this a project you could take on board now/ asap? Any feel how long this would take to build from scratch and hence costs?

Where will the budget for this come to pay for the new solution?
