Hi [redacted],

We're around Friday and will make time for you.

All sounds good to me, and [redacted] is quite right - shared drives need tackling (but we need a tool to do so).

Also it might be a good idea to redesign the BDB from scratch, not least because this is what our lawyers might advise.

[redacted] hoping to pop up for a chat later.

Regards

Re: BDB redesign

from the point of view of what is the policy that we need to follow particularly with documents that aren't in Notes but stored elsewhere such as file shares; and what tools do we need in place to do this. There is such a push to meet the Digital by Default agenda that everything is being considered under these terms. [REDACTED] seemed to be under the impression that there isn't actually any money to bring in anything new anyway but this would give us time for proper investigations.

I have pointed out to [REDACTED] et al that the whole reason we went down this route was the cost of support etc and if they look at other tools then all this will need to be taken into consideration.

Just spoken with [REDACTED] and originally we put in a proposal to do the BDB from scratch but she's suggested that we just concentrate on replacing the ERMS sub-form, and removing anything that we can find that might have touched [REDACTED] code.

Will probably need to have a look at this with one of you on Friday to keep up the momentum.

[REDACTED] also looking at some changes so we need to get these in place first.

Thanks,

[REDACTED]
