██
██
███
███
██
██
██████████████████████

███
██
██
███

Mobile phones transmit data on their location back to mobile network providers. These data have the potential to create a variety of estimates relevant to Census including population densities and flows. ██
███
██
███