Hi Susan / [REDACTED],

I will get a response to you by 3pm.

The following link provides more detailed information on access to retrospective GB smart data through the DCC (which you will need to sign-up to). Apart from independently commissioned research (such as the Soton data or EDRP), this will be the primary portal from which all interested parties (including DECC) can apply for access to anonymised smart data in GB.

Hope this is useful,

Hi [redacted]

Following today's discussion at DECC - thought I should revise an abstract we have submitted into the NTTS conference I spoke about. re the smart-type meter distinction etc.

Would you be able to look it over quickly and get a response on the text back to [redacted] today please? - as this is the last day for submitting the abstract

[redacted] - would you resubmit the abstract please - probably hold off until 3pm say to give [redacted] a chance of responding - but the version above is improved on the last one we submitted.

Thanks all

Susan
