Q16: Please tell us what you think we could do better.

- The website still makes it unnecessarily difficult to find the latest statistical release on a given topic.
- It would be useful to our research if as much data as possible across all publications came with a breakdown by age group, and if consistent age groups were used across all ONS publications.
- It would be helpful if even more ONS data was made available at smaller geographical scales, including local authority and ward level wherever this is possible.
